

Native American Agriculture Fund Request for Applications 2019

---

The Native American Agriculture Fund (NAAF)

---

Paper applicants will check boxes in all yes/no questions as well as choices sections. Paper applicants will also use a separate word document to fill in the sections that require typing. Paper applicants must adhere to character limits. All questions associated with each area of funding you are applying for with an * must be completed prior to submitting your paper application.

Project Services

Welcome to the application for the Native American Agriculture Fund (NAAF) 2019 Request for Applications (RFA). All prospective applicants will need to answer the following questions and upload the required documents in pdf format. Although online applications are preferred, paper applications can be submitted.

Contact NAAF at: www.NativeAmericanAgricultureFund.org/grants or by calling 479.445.6226, with any questions you may have. Please note that if you are selected for funding as a Tribal government or Tribal government instrumentality you will be required to provide to NAAF a limited waiver of sovereign immunity. After selection, successful applicants will be notified regarding the amount of funding for which they are approved and at that time they will be directed to submit the limited waiver. The waivers must be submitted to NAAF prior to any award funding distribution.

Organization name*

Name of the organization administering the project(s)

Character Limit: 250

Meeting core issues*

Lack of access to credit and lack of credit servicing were core issues in the Keepseagle settlement. Not all projects will attempt to improve this issue, and there is no preference given for answering yes to this question. We are trying to determine how many applications are working to solve either of these core issues and what region they will serve.

Will your organization or project work toward improving access to credit or farm credit education?

Choices:

- Yes
- No

If you selected yes to the core issues question, please specify***

Discuss how your organization or desired project will seek to improve access to credit or credit education for Native farmers and ranchers, which was a core issue in the Keepsealge case.

Character Limit: 1500

Funding Impact***

How will NAAF funding build on your organization's previous and current experience in providing services to Native farmers and ranchers, and how will your project meet the needs of existing or new Native farmers or ranchers?

Character Limit: 2000

There are two types of funding in this grant cycle (targeted funding and special emphasis project funding).

1. Targeted funding:
  - a. Funding requested to assist in the following service areas: Business Assistance, Agricultural Education, Technical Support, and Advocacy Services.
2. Special emphasis project funding:
  - a. Funding requested to provide assistance for the following special emphasis projects: Traditional foods and food sovereignty, hemp production analysis, youth programs, and agricultural sciences. Applicants may apply for one or all areas. You must, however, complete the application questions for each request separately. For instance, an applicant applying for targeted funding in agricultural education as well as for special emphasis project funding in agricultural science will complete two sets of application questions (each tailored for a specific service area/special emphasis project).

Are you applying for targeted funding?***
